How this record was prepared

This is a personal record kept by one parent. It is a contemporaneous account of what they observed — not an independent or verified one.

Each entry was written in the app on the date shown under "recorded", which is stored separately from the date the contact took place. Where the two differ, the entry says so.

"Scheduled" times are the times the contact was due to start and finish. "Actual" times are what was observed. A start is only described as late when it is more than 5 minutes after the scheduled time; that allowance is a setting in the app and was 5 minutes when this was prepared.

A contact "varied by agreement" is one both parents agreed to change. These are listed separately and are never counted as a contact that did not take place.

No entry in this selection has been amended since it was first written.

To keep this list short, tags are not printed here. They are held in the app and can be produced in full.

Times are shown in the phone's local time zone.
